

This guide sets out a brief summary of the process for an Expedited Agreed Sanction with the ITIA for your reference. You must decide whether to accept or reject the ITIA's offered expedited sanction and respond within 10 business days.

We strongly recommend you urgently seek legal advice. You or your advisers should also refer to the accompanying letter and the TACP which take precedence over this summary document.

1

The ITIA has received information from law enforcement linking you to criminal activity that amounts to a Corruption Offense(s).
(See paragraph A of the accompanying letter.)

2

The potential sanctions should your case proceed to a hearing could be up to a life suspension from professional tennis and a $250,000 fine.
(See paragraph B of the accompanying letter.)

3

The ITIA is offering you the opportunity to admit the offense(s) alleged by the ITIA and accept an expedited agreed sanction at this stage, which will not be more than suspension from professional tennis for 3 years and a $15,000 fine.
(The proposed sanction which is being offered to you is set out in paragraph C of the accompanying letter.)

You do not have to accept the proposal and can instead choose to let the ITIA conduct a full investigation into your suspected Corruption Offense(s), which may result in your case being resolved at a hearing in front of an Anti-Corruption Hearing Officer (AHO). You should note that the AHO may impose a higher sanction, up to the maximum sanction set out in paragraph B of the accompanying letter.
